As you know this week is safer internet week. This is about helping children to be safe online and how to use smartphones, tablets and many other devices properly and sensibly . Here are some top tips:

- Under 11 years : tell an adult about inappropriate pictures or videos online.
- Above 11 years : keep personal information to yourself.

Questions :

- What do you do to be safe online?
- What personal information can people find about you from a picture you have posted online?

The co-operative super market in Nottingham had to recall chocolate Easter bunnies due to a button battery inside one. The mother (Tammy-Louise Dundon) told the Nottingham post: “My daughter bit the ears off and shouted ‘what’s this ?” The national crime agency and police are assisting with this horrific crime.

Questions:

- What would you do if there was something in your food?
- Who would've sabotaged the chocolate bunny?

A volcano in Mexico has erupted sending a huge column and smoke and ash into the sky.

The Colima Volcano is one of 3,000 located in Mexico but only 14 of them are considered active.

The ash travelled far enough to cover towns which were several miles away but authorities have told residents that they don't need to evacuate their houses.
